Dear Ms. Cooke,

I have heard in the media that a number of renowned doctors and scientists, led by Professor Emeritus Sucharit Bhakdi, sent you a letter on the first of March this year. In this letter, they express their concerns regarding the safety of the prophylactic treatment by injection against covid-19.

As a citizen of Europe, I am very concerned that this letter has not yet been answered by you and / or your office. I want to be confident that the treatments you have currently authorized meet the EMA's standards for safety and effectiveness.

A lot of information is available on your website and through the media. This shows that you take the task of providing information seriously. You also indicate that you are as transparent as possible. However, your information does not appear to be sufficient for specialists in the field to assess whether the treatments in question are safe and effective.

Therefore the failure to respond to Prof. Bhakdi deeply worries me. I urge you to answers the questions of Prof. Bhakdi publicly and extensively .

I trust that you will take your responsibility towards me and all the citizens of the European Union seriously and that you will comply with my request.

Yours sincerely,
